Development a GH2 Industry with State vision established in 2020

2020

2023

- Strategy driven by cheap GH2 production costs and a net zero policy for decarbonization by 2050.
- The strategy objective is to transform Chile into an energy exporter and support the decarbonization of local demand.
- It's a long-term policy that provides a firm foundation for the development of the GH2 industry in Chile.
- Strategy implementation defined by clear governance and an Action Plan established through a comprehensive participatory process and steered by a Strategic Committee.

02

National goals redefined in 2026 based on the actual state global market development

2025

Highest level of green hydrogen investment in Latin America

Electrolysis capacity built and under development

Production of GH2 in at least two green hydrogen hubs in Chile

2035

Production of GH2 for local demand

Production of GH2 for exports

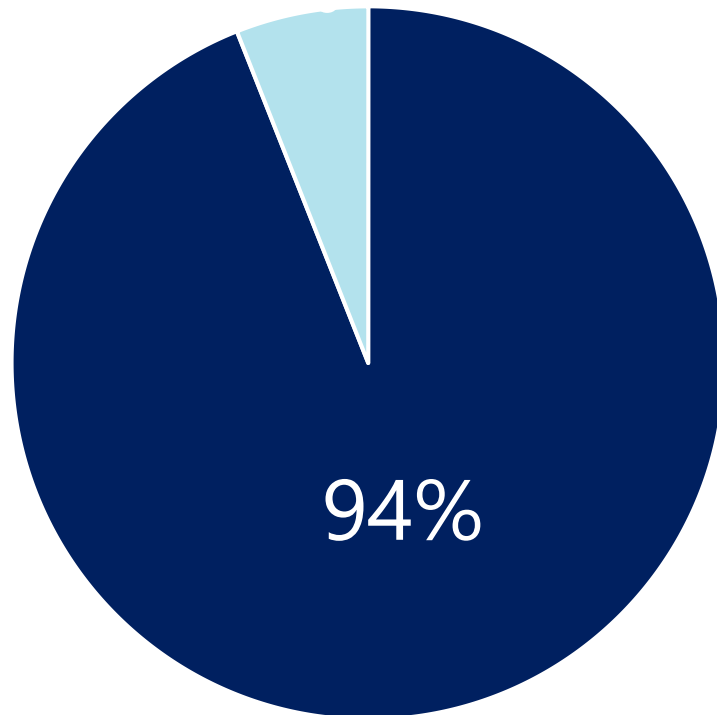

2050

Total Production of GH2

Chile will have a share of over 6% of the GH2 global market by 2050

Source: Updated GH2 Strategy, Ministry of Energy

- Chile can be a key player in decarbonizing global maritime and air transport.
- The European Union, Japan, and South Korea stand out as the markets with the greatest import potential.
- Chile has positioned itself as a potentially relevant supplier to these markets due to its strategic location
- Although Chile faces competition in the European market from potential suppliers from North Africa and other Latin American countries, as well as from Australia and the Middle East in the Asian market, concerns about energy security and the geopolitical scenario may prompt importers to diversify their supply sources and increase the projection of 6% of global shares of the IEA
